(a) The clerk of petty sessions cannot give any account of fees for the years 1842 and 1843, he having only been lately appointed.

(b) The present clerk was appointed in July 1842, and his fees are only returned from that date. There were also declarations, and since the Arms' Bill came into operation, notices for registry, certificates for powder, informations returned to the clerks of the Crown and peace, and several other matters not returnable as fees, and which are not included in the quarterly returns, amounting to 51. per annum.

(c) Including about 51. per year, average receipts, for preparing declarations and affidavits taken before magistrates, and presentations for arms' licences in 1843 and 1844. Besides these sums, there was also on the average 51. a year for fees due from the constabulary in cases where informations were laid by them or where parties summoned were convicted, and committed or acquitted. These charges are never paid, and no particular account of them is therefore kept; formerly they were paid out of their portion of the fines.

(d) Rusharkin was not constituted a petty sessions until the 3d July 1844.

(e) Since 1843, Major Rowan has allowed the clerk out of his own pocket 41. per annum, and Mr. Grimshaw 21. per annum.

(f) Including 91. 7s. 3d. by a presentment, for trouble under the Registry of Arms' Act. The appointment of the present petty session clerk took place at the latter end of the year 1843.

(g) Loughgall petty sessions, formerly held at Cloanmain, recommenced in February 1844. No petty sessions were held at either place during the years 1843 and 1843. During the period in which the petty sessions were held the yearly amount of fees received by the clerk did not exceed 10l.

(A) The exact amount of fees received in the year 1842, and the early part of 1843, cannot be given, as the account kept by the late petty sessions' clerk, who died suddenly, cannot be found.

(i) The fees for witnesses' summonses are not included in the return, as no record of them has been kept; they would amount to at least 5l. per annum in addition to the fees on record.

(k) No sessions were held in these years.

(l) The present clerk has only been recently appointed, and has no documents in his possession to enable him to give the information required.

(m) These sums were received for summonses; the fees on convictions not being paid by the prosecutors.

(x) This sessions was consolidated with Tulla on the 19th of October 1843.

(c) The present clerk of the Drumcondra petty sessions did not enter upon his duties until the 31 January 1844. This is the only return he has been enabled to obtain from his predecessors.

(d) This Return does not include fees to which the clerk is entitled to under the Petty Sessions Act, 1 & 2 Geo. 4, c. 67, upon prosecutions by the police and paupers, which he has not been paid during the last three years, and which, if paid, would increase the amount at least one-fourth.

(e) The present clerk having been appointed on the 17th January 1843, cannot account for the year 1842.

(f) The present clerk was appointed in 1843.

(a) Established 23rd March 1842.

(b) By the Municipal Boundary Act, 6 & 4 Vict. c. 106, certain portions of the county of the city of Limerick were severed from the borough and added to the county of Limerick; for the portions so severed a petty sessions has been granted, the fees received in which are here returned.

(c) Established 24th January 1843.

(d) The petty sessions held at Castlediller have been given up, and a new sessions opened at Carrigah.

(e) The present clerk was appointed in October 1843.

(f) These are the amounts actually received. The clerk was awarded about three times as much in each year, which was not received by him, in consequence of his having no legal method of recovering his fees if he were regularly paid, his fees would average 180 £. per annum.
